Advice to improve your score

Test takers at Band 9 can typically follow extended speech involving complex, abstract, and detailed argumentation, as well as predict its further development. They process what they hear automatically and understand main points and details, and speakers' purpose and attitude, and also recognise agreement or disagreement between speakers even when these are implied. They can understand a very wide range of vocabulary, including specialised, technical and academic terminology and idiomatic language.

Reading 8.0

Test takers at Band 8 can typically deal effectively with a variety of factual and opinion-based texts that are often complex and dense with information. They are skilled at using their very wide vocabulary knowledge to create meaning, from sentence level to text level, on a range of general, specialised, and technical topics. They are good at following complex arguments and distinguishing between main ideas and supporting details, and at understanding attitude, opinion and implication. They are good at using appropriate reading strategies, such as skimming and scanning, and at synthesizing information and drawing inferences.

Your reading skills are already quite good. Continue to develop your awareness of how to read different types of texts differently. What features does that particular type of text typically have? How is information structured and arranged in such texts? Use your knowledge of these and approach the reading task in an appropriate way. Limit the amount of time you give yourself to read a text. As an exercise, try to find several texts on the same topic so that you can compare opinions, views, definitions and conceptualisations of ideas. Academics often make fine distinctions, so see if you can determine these. You may even try to see if you can capture those differences by writing a one sentence summary.
